Environmental Considerations for the Value of your Business

Concerned about past, current or future environmental contamination? Environmental issues now and in the future may significantly impact the value of your business. Federal Superfund law provides you legal protections if you follow certain procedures. Learn how you can protect your assets with simple processes.

Presented by Eric Schmitz, Registered Environmental Assessor

Eric is the Vice President of Product and Business Development at KPA. He earned his B.S. in Environmental Toxicology from the University of California at Davis.
